Works By Robert Rauschenberg
 January 12 — March 20

Touching on various themes and ideas, this exhibition features a variety of art by the American master. From the Dr. John and Frances C. Fenning Collection, most of the works in the show feature a combination of mediums interlaced with objects and everyday materials. Pictured: Big and Little Bullies (Ruminations), Intaglio, 1999. The Edge of Vision
 January 15 — March 26

Exploring abstraction in contemporary photography, the works (both photographs and photo-based creations) in this exhibition explore the themes of light and the "undisclosed" through a variety of images that don't reveal what they are at first glance. Miami International Art Fair
 January 14-17

With more than 80 dealers from all over the world, this fair has got contemporary art well covered. Work on exhibit will include painting, photography and mixed media from emerging, mid-career and established artists. Golden Dragon Acrobats
 January 15

Flexible doesn't begin to describe the members of this Chinese acrobatics ensemble, the country's leading troupe of its kind. These athletes contort and twist themselves into impossible and gravity-defying forms, all in the name of entertainment. Don't try this at home doesn't begin to describe it. Phillips Center, Gainesville, 352/392-2787.
